

Curriculum Vitae G. Matteo Crovetto

Born in Milan, Italy, in 1955; graduated in Agricultural Sciences in 1981; one year stage at the Institute for Animal Feeding and Nutrition Research of Lelystad (The Netherlands); professor since 2005, by the Section of Animal Science, Department of Agricultural and Environmental Sciences, Università degli Studi di Milano.

Teaching: Animal Nutrition and Feeding, Animal Husbandry and Environment, International Cooperation and Crop-Livestock Systems.

Professional and scientific associations: Member of the European Association for Animal Production (EAAP); member of the American Dairy Science Association (ADSA); Member of the Italian Scientific Association for Animal Science (ASPA); Member of the Scientific Initiative Committee of the Italian Association of the Feed Compounder Industries (ASSALZOO).

Tasks:

President of the Nutrition Commission of the European Association for Animal Production.

President of the International Commission of Energy and Protein Metabolism and Nutrition.

President of the Teaching Committee for the Degree in Science of the production and transformation of milk, Università degli Studi di Milano.

Coordinator of the Doctorate in Animal Productions, Università degli Studi di Milano.

2014-2015: president of the teaching committee for the Bachelor degrees in “Agrarian Sciences and Technologies”, “Agrotechnologies for the Environment and the Territory”, and “Production and Defense of Plants and Green Systems”.

2014-2015: president of the teaching committee for the Master degrees in “Agrarian Sciences”, “Agro-environmental Sciences”, and “Sciences for Plant Production and Defense”.

2011-2015: superintendent of two experimental farms of the Università degli Studi di Milano.

2001-2007: director of the Institute of Animal Husbandry, Università degli Studi di Milano.

2007-2015: coordinator of the section Animal Science of the Department of Agricultural and Environmental Sciences, Università degli Studi di Milano.

1994-2015: president of the NGO CeLIM Milano, involved in agricultural development projects (in the field Agriculture, Health, Literacy) in several developing Countries.

Scientific coordinator of several research projects at national level.

Author of about 180 publications (40 peer reviewed), mainly on ruminant feeding, forage systems, feed evaluation and determination of the nutritive value of forages and concentrates, environmental impact of the farm animals.

